MABON HITS BACK AT N. Y. BANK NOTE CO.

President Kendall Evaded Exchange Rule Before 1892, He Says.

CRITICISES FIRM'S WORK

Stillwell Bill Makes It Hard to Prevent Forgery of Securities.

One of the strongest statements ever issued by the New York Stock Exchange was given out yesterday by President James B. Mabon as a reply to the criticism which resulted in the introduction by Senator Stilwell, at the re quest of Gov. Sulzer, of a bill intended to put an end to the exchange's rule have not been engraved by a concern approved by the governing committee.

The whole question, according to the authorities of the exchange, is based upon their action in refusing to approve of the qualifications of the New York Bank Note Company. The pending bill they describe as "a bill to compel the exchange to admit to its list se curities engraved by that company." George H. Kendall, president of the

New York Bank Note Company, has persistently declared that the American Bank Note Company had a monopoly of the engraving of securities and he brought suit against the Stock Exchange about three years ago. A bitter attack upon Kendall and his business methods is contained in the statement from the exchange.

The statement says: "The exchange has heretofore kept si-lence in regard to the attacks made upon it by Kendall, deeming that the proper form in which to refute the charges made by him was the court in which the action of the New York Bank Note Company has been brought, and that in the minds of all fair minded men the form and manner of the charges would deprive them of weight. Inasmuch, however, as members of the Legislature have apparently attached sufficient importance to these charges to introduce bills for Ken-dall's benefit, it has become necessary to explain the position of the exchange. Since its organization, so far as the ex-change has been informed, it has been under Kendall's sole management, and for this reason the exchange has never been and is not now satisfied that the character of its management affords any assurance that securities engraved by it would conform to the standard sought to be maintained by the exchange.

A. MacDonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, who spoke at a men's meeting under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

According to Mr. MacDonald the Tatt administration held that it would be far better for Canada to remain out of the United States and Great Britain of Great Britain were Canada to be absorbed by us. Mr. MacDonald quotes Secretary Knex expressing these views:

> "Instead of our desiring a political union of these two lands it is to our advantage that Canada should stay out of the republic and remain in the empire. The power of America to-day is the power of the United States and the power of Canada plus the power of Britain. Should Canada separate from the empire and become either independent or a State in this republic, here would be no plus."

William J. Bryan made his first public appearance as Secretary of State and introduced Mr. MacDonald to the audience. In the course of his remarks Secretary Bryan declared there was tional peace could be built except the spirit of brotherhood.
